

11 FUTURE SIMPLE TENSE

Formation

| Types                | Structures                                              | Examples                           |
|----------------------|---------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| Affirmative   | Subject + will + base form of verb + object             | She will walk to school tomorrow.  |
| Negative      | Subject + will not (won't) + base form of verb + object | She won't walk to school tomorrow. |
| Interrogative | Will + subject + base form of verb + object?            | Will she walk to school tomorrow?  |

Uses

| Uses                                                                                                                                                | Example                                                                                                                                              |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Predictions about the future                                                                                                                 | - It will rain tomorrow.                                                                                                                             |
| Decisions made at the moment of speaking                                                                                                     | - I will answer the phone.                                                                                                                           |
| Promises, offers, and threats                                                                                                                | - I will help you with your homework.                                                                                                                |
| Stative VerbsThe verb "will be" is a stative verb used to show a state, condition, or existence in the future.                | - She will be a teacher.(State of Being)- We will be ready for the trip.(Condition)There will be a book on the table.(Existence) |
| PossessionsWe use will have as a stative verb to indicate possession, relationships, or states such as illness in the future. | - She will have a beautiful dress.(Possession)- They will have many friends.(Relationships)- She will have a fever.(Illness)     |

Examples

| Subject             | Affirmative                       | Negative                           | Interrogative                     |
|---------------------|-----------------------------------|------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| I                   | I will call you later.            | I won't call you later.            | Will I call you later?            |
| She / He / It / Ali | She will walk to school tomorrow. | She won't walk to school tomorrow. | Will she walk to school tomorrow? |
| We / You / They     | They will come to the party.      | They won't come to the party.      | Will they come to the party?      |

11.1 Fill in the blanks with the future simple form of the verb.

 I _____ (call) you tomorrow.

 She _____ (not go) to the party.

 Will they _____ (visit) us next week?

 We _____ (help) you with your homework.

 He _____ (finish) his work on time.

 The teacher _____ (explain) the lesson tomorrow.

 He _____ (be) a doctor when he grows up.

 They _____ (be) at the airport tomorrow.

 I _____ (be) ready in five minutes.

 She _____ (have) a beautiful house.

 Ali _____ (have) a new house by the end of the year.

11.2

Rewrite the sentences as affirmatives.

She won't come to the meeting.

---

They won't help us.

---

He won't pass the exam.

---

I won't go to the wedding.

---

We won't forget you.

---

11.3

Rewrite the sentences as negatives.

She will call you tomorrow.

---

We will visit the park next week.

---

He will finish his work on time.

---

They will attend the meeting.

---

I will help you with your homework.

---

The teacher will explain the lesson tomorrow.

---

11.4

Rewrite the sentences as questions.

 She will visit her grandparents next weekend.

---

 They will organize a party for his birthday.

---

 We will be in the park if you need us.

---

 He will complete his assignment by evening.

---

 They will join us for dinner.

---

 I will be busy with work this afternoon.

---

 He will be ready to leave in five minutes.

---

11.5

Correct the mistakes.

 She won't calling you tomorrow.

---

 Will they visits us next week?

---

 He will not finishes his work on time.

---

 The teacher will explains the lesson tomorrow.

---

 I won't helps you with your homework.

---

 Will she going to the party?

---