UNIT 14 CONDITIONAL SENTENCES

What are Conditional Sentences?

Conditional sentences are sentences that show a condition and the result that depends on whether the condition is true or not. These sentences usually talk about possible or impossible situations, future actions, or hypothetical situations.

A conditional sentence has two parts:

The condition (the "if" part)

The result (the part that tells us what happens if the condition is true).

1) Zero Conditional

• Formation

- If + Present Simple, Present Simple

Example: If you heat water, it boils.

• Uses

- To talk about facts or general truths.
- Used for things that always happen when the condition is met.

Examples

- 1) If the Sun shines, it feels warm.
It feels warm if the sun shines.

- 2) If you mix blue and yellow, you get green.
You get green if you mix blue and yellow.

- 3) If you press this button, the light turns on.
The light turns on if you press this button.

- 4) If you don't water plants, they die.
They die if you don't water plants.

2) First Conditional

• Formation

- If + Present Simple, Will + Base Verb
(if-clause) (main clause)

Example: If it rains, we will stay indoors.

• Uses

- To talk about possible situations in the future.
- Used for things that are likely to happen if the condition is met.

Examples

1) If you study hard, you will pass the exam.

2) If it gets cold, we will light a fire.

3) If you help me, I will finish faster.

4) If they play well, they will win the match.

Key Difference Between Zero and First Conditional

| Type                     | If Clause Example | Main Clause Example | Use                                     |
|--------------------------|-------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| Zero Conditional  | If you heat ice,  | it melts.           | Talks about facts and general truths.   |
| First Conditional | If you study,     | you will succeed.   | Talks about possible future situations. |
