TENSE FORMS

UNIT 2 TENSE FORMS

PRESENT TENSE

Present Simple is used: • for permanent situations or states. He works in a hospital.	Present Continuous is used for: • temporary situations. She is working in Paris this week.
• for general truths and laws of nature. Water boils at 100°C.	• changing or developing situations. The world is getting taller and taller.
• for repeated/habitual actions (especially with adverbs of frequency: often, usually, always, etc.). He gets up at seven every day. (Here "always" means every day.)	• frequently repeated actions with always, constantly, etc., expressing annoyance or criticism. He is always asking stupid question (here always mean constantly)
• for timetables/schedules, (future meaning). The plane leaves at 3:30.	• action happening at or around the moment of speaking The baby is sleeping at the moment
	• planned arrangements in the near future or be+going+to (gonna). I'm seeing Zain tonight. OR I'm going to (gonna) see Zain tonight.

Present Perfect is used for: • recently completed actions whose results are visible in the present. He has cut his finger (and it is bleeding).	Present Perfect Continuous is used: • for actions that started in the past and are still going on in the present. He has been washing his bike for an hour. (He started an hour ago and he's still washing it.)
• states developed in the past and are still in present. She has been a doctor for ten years.	• for past actions of certain duration having visible results or effects in the present. He has been fighting. That's why he's got a black eye.
• actions which happened within a specific time period which is not over at the time of speaking. We use expressions such as today, this morning/evening/week/month, etc. He has read three novels this week. (The time period – this week – is not over yet. He may read others.)	• to express anger, irritation, annoyance Someone has been using my laptop. (annoyance)
	• Present Perfect Continuous is normally used with 'for', 'since' or 'how long' to put emphasis on duration. She has been waiting since 4 o'clock.

Time expressions used with:

Present Simple	every day/week/month/year, usually, sometimes, always, rarely, never, often, in the morning/evening/afternoon, at night, on Mondays, etc.
Present Continuous	now, at the moment, at present, nowadays, today, tonight, always, still, etc.
Present Perfect & Present Perfect Continuous	just, ever, never, already, yet (in negatives & questions), always, how long, so far, since, for, recently, since + date, from (a starting point in the past), for (over a period of time), today, this week/month, etc.

For and since are usually used with Present Perfect Continuous to emphasize the duration of an action.
